At Sobhe Rouyesh, students do not stand in lines facing another person's back repeating military slogans. Instead, they stand side-by-side holding hands singing out loud: we are one, honesty and friendship. They learn concepts and skills in captivating ways at academies of homeland, numbers, literary, biology, mysterious, art, and game. Talk table, the feel-good ringing bell, and many other creative acts within the class has turned the school into a place for childhood. The school where children enjoy themselves, experience childhood and happiness; a place in which their needs get addressed, they seek shelter and rely on.

Why child labor is our major concern?

Our child laborers live in an environment which is quite different from the social standards. These kids are left behind in education and are deprived of the most basic childhood needs such as playing and receiving affection. The sad truth is that child labor of today is tomorrow's juvenile offenders. The main objective of Sobhe Rouyesh is interjecting in that cycle. Sobhe Rouyesh's scientific and creative methods lead us to say: Child labor of today, effective and desirable youth of tomorrow.

Educational Needs

Our child laborers are exposed to drug dealing, violence, accusations, addiction, poverty and vulnerability. Above said, these children require the type of education that allows them to grow under these conditions; teachings such as saying no to drugs, anger management, self-care, and legally earned income. The teachings enable our children to face their challenges and limitations.
